ECONOMISTS HAD MEETING IN THE UNION

Annual Open Meeting of Economics Club

LENGTHY DISCUSSION

Good Papers from Webster and Pierce

The annual open meeting of the Economics Club was held in the Union last night. The speakers were G. M. Webster and S. D. Pierce. The meeting was followed by an interesting discussion in which several of the audience took part.

Sir Arthur Currie in introducing the subject stated that he did not claim to be an authority on economic questions but nevertheless made some very interesting remarks on the subject of unemployment. He stated that as economics consists largely of common sense, he expected to hear common sense in the following debate.

It is right that the university should lead in such matters of vital interest to the community. He stated that he was looking forward with the greatest interest to the ensuing discussion. After alluding briefly to the history of the club Sir Arthur introduced the first speaker, Gordon Webster.

Webster, in introducing the subject, spoke of the unemployment wave which has passed over the whole world. There are two main causes of unemployment. Labor turnover, cyclical trade depressions.

Webster gave a sketch of unemployment as it is in Montreal today, in which he asserted that about 80,000 people were affected by unemployment. He then went on to give an idea of the situation in other parts of the world. During the war there was a period of unparalleled prosperity which has lately been followed by the present wave of depression. This was the case in nearly all countries, but those hardest hit by unemployment were Great Britain and the United States.

Unemployment is being combatted by various means, such as public works improvements, finding of work for ex-service men, short-time work and unemployment insurance.

Germany at present is well situated. There are only about 100,000 men unemployed. This was due to the fact that unemployment was turned into productive channels. There has, due to the low value of the mark, been a great boom in manufacturing and Germany has been able to undersell all other nations. Passing next to Canada, Webster stated that unemployment here is very serious. There are many men out of work in every

LAW UNDERGRADS. SOCIETY ELECTIONS

W. F. Macklaier Is President for 1922-'23

The results of the Law Undergraduate Society elections, held yesterday, are as follows:

President, Wm. F. Macklaier, '23; vice-president, A. J. Carroll, '23; treasurer, Frank Chauvin, '24; secretary, Miss Heneker, '24.

Voting took place in the Law Building, John Long, president of the Society, acting as scrutineer, and distributing the ballots during the course of the lecture. Long spared no pains in seeing that everything was in order, even going to the length of carrying the ballot box with him into the lecture room.

The nominees for president, "Bill" Macklaier and John Senecal, both of Law '23, received respectively 46 and 19 votes. For vice-president, John Robinson, the other nominee, asked to have his name withdrawn, as he is already the representative from the faculty of Law on the Students' Council. A. J. Carroll was therefore declared elected by acclamation.

The election for the office of treasurer was the most closely contested, Frank Chauvin receiving 36 votes to 31 for Harry Edenburg.

The office of secretary was filled without there being a necessity for an election, Miss Heneker receiving an acclamation.

Acrobatic stunts, involving entering or leaving an airplane while in flight are forbidden under a new clause which has been added to the Canadian air regulations.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE SIGNING NOW

List for Prospective Candidates on Notice Board

The Football Club has its plans for the coming fall campaign pretty well planned already. According to men who are controlling the affairs of the club for the coming year every inducement will be held out to newcomers to the team. As a matter of fact they are depending on the new men to fill up the gaps left by the departure of last year's men from the team.

The new men will have to be recruited from the students attending college at the present time, for the greatest part, for there has been no information received concerning football players who will be coming up from the preparatory schools. Several men who have been at the college for some time and have not taken part in the game before have announced their intention of trying out for the team next year and it is expected that a great number more will do so before the end of the season.

It is important that the Football Club executive should know who intends to be out next year and for this purpose a sheet has been placed on the notice board of the Union on which the candidates have been asked to place their names. Anyone who expects to be back next year and has an idea that he might be able to make one of the football teams has been requested to sign his name, year, and address on the list. It is important that the names should be signed as soon as possible.

AMERICAN GENERAL MAY REVIEW CORPS

Guard of Honor for Pershing at Convocation

It is proposed that General Pershing, who commanded the American Army in France, should attend Convocation on May 12 to receive the honorary degree of LL.D. If he does, it is intended to parade the McGill C.O.T.C. as a guard of honor, provided that sufficient numbers can turn out.

Certain N.C.O.s and men have put their names down to attend, and, when they hand in their uniforms and equipment to the Q.M. Stores, they will mark the name-tags with the words "Guard of Honor." Every man in addition who thinks that there is a reasonable chance that he can take part, should mark his name-tag in a similar fashion. All uniforms and equipment so marked will be kept at one side and issued out of the orderly room on the morning of Thursday, May 11, so that every man possible may take part in the rehearsals, etc., on the afternoon of that day, prior to Friday, the day of the guard of honor. Every N.C.O. and man should do all in his power to turn out for this guard of honor, because of the impression of McGill University which General Pershing will take away with him.

Grafting a big toe to the stump of a thumb has been successfully performed by two French surgeons. A 15-year-old boy lost his thumb in a piece of gearing. His big toe was grafted in place of the thumb, and he is now able to grasp and hold, palm downward, a weight of more than two pounds. The new member is normal as far as muscular power is concerned. It also has the sense of touch and is sensitive to pain and cold, but is not sensitive to heat.

PROF. ASTON LECTURES TO PHYSICAL SOC.

Atomic Structure Was Basis of His Lecture

ISOTOPES

Inert Gas Experiments Extremely Delicate

The underworld of atoms and the work which modern scientists are doing in laying bare the wonders of the fundamental structure of matter were vividly described in a clear and interesting address delivered before the Physical Society last evening by Dr. F. W. Aston, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

Dr. Aston, who is an experimental physicist of the highest repute, opened his lecture by giving a short account of the accepted theories of the atomic structure of matter. He demonstrated by the use of a large-size model cube with what rapidity symmetric division reduces a cube to almost infinitesimal magnitude, and by the means of comparative scale diagrams he showed with what extremely minute bodies the scientist is concerned in approaching this branch of research.

Some astounding figures were presented by the lecturer in respect to the vast length to which the areas of the surfaces of the atoms in the molecule would stretch if spread in a single line. So great are the number of atoms in a comparatively small space, said the lecturer, that there are two thousand times the number of atoms in a glass of water than there are glasses of water upon the earth.

The main topic of Dr. Aston's address was a description of the phenomena of isotopes, and of the recent researches which have been conducted at Cambridge and elsewhere, upon this interesting and theoretically important branch of physical chemistry. Isotopes are substances of identical properties but of different atomic weights. These substances which seemed to threaten the very foundations of chemistry, were first investigated by Soddy and J. J. Thompson in the early years of the last decade.

The atomic weights of substances of similar properties were measured by comparing the actual particles themselves. This was made possible by the recent advances in the field of radio-activity and the discharge of currents through gases. The atomic weights of the gases are proportional to the amount of deflection of the Cathode rays in an electric or magnetic field.

CLOSE CONTEST IN MEDICAL ELECTION

H. M. Elder Elected President of Society

Eighty per cent of the registered medical undergraduates voted in the annual elections of their Undergraduate Society which was held yesterday. Six hundred and two votes were polled in all. Med. '23 and '24 voting practically as a solid body.

Close contests were the rule for nearly all offices, especially for that of vice-president, in which C. P. McLean defeated G. F. Aylward by the narrow margin of two votes; three recounts being necessary before the final result was announced.

Miss Gibbons has the honor of being the first woman student elected to an office in the Society executive, holding the position of case reporter for the coming session.

The following are the results of the election:

President, H. M. Elder, who received 464 votes to 80 by Chas. Schultz; vice-president, C. P. McLean, who received 201 votes to G. F. Aylward's 191 and J. Quinn's 136; treasurer, H. C. Curtis, 274 votes to 247 for A. M. McLellan; secretary, R. B. Henry, 393 votes to 197 for John Helmecken; assistant secretary, H. C. Dregor, 287 to 254 for E. D. Solloway; councilman, J. M. Elliot by acclamation; case reporter, Miss Gibbons, 318 to 159 for G. A. Boon.

The annual meeting of the society will be held on Monday, March 27, at which the various yearly reports will be read and the new officers installed.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1922.

A SUGGESTION.

For years past the Convocation Hall has been an eyesore to those who have found it necessary to attend a meeting there. The walls are faded, the ceiling is badly in need of a thorough cleaning and the whole appearance is one of general neglect. There is not a country church on an outlying circuit that would tolerate such a condition.

During the period of construction that McGill is now undergoing it would be not too much to ask the authorities to spend some consideration on the buildings which we already have around the campus. New buildings are being erected for various purposes, but the Convocation Hall, as the least utilitarian of all, is relegated to the last place on the list of proposed buildings. The Convocation Hall as it now stands is as badly in need of renovation as any building on the campus, and in view of that fact deserves at least re-decoration.

The present Convocation Hall has served its purpose for many years and will do so for many more, but would it not be more of a credit to the University if it were put in a condition compatible with the rest of the campus buildings?

DELTA SIGMA CONTEST WAS BIG SUCCESS

The members of the Delta Sigma Society listened to a number of interesting speeches yesterday afternoon dealing with a wide range of subjects. The program of the afternoon took the form of the annual public-speaking contest for which each class elects three representatives, each of whom is to speak for five minutes on a topic of her own choice.

The representatives of the first year were Miss Hoffman-Smith, who discussed the Chinese in the Western world; Miss Baker, whose topic was "Superstition," and Miss Chalk, who described furniture during the Queen Anne era.

Miss Basken, a Sophomore, gave an account of the origin of folk lore, and her colleague, Miss Grant, told something of the history and characteristics of the Gypsies in a very pleasing manner.

Miss Foster of the Third year chose as her subject the sea-shore; Miss Leggatt spoke on "Adventure," and Miss Kerr talked about telling stories to children on the play grounds. She began by mentioning the various types of children one meets and the kind of stories that most appeal to them, and then called attention to the great opportunity offered to any who could tell stories of giving these children a broader view of life. Miss Kerr won the second prize.

Those who upheld the honor of the Senior year were Miss Birkett, who spoke on "The Lotus Land," Miss McPartlin, who gave the history of a railway ticket, and Miss Shatford, the winner of the first prize. In her address, she said that almost everything we do was for the sake of appearances—"A dance before a mirror" which usually deceived no one but ourselves. Still, this continued attempt to be what we are not, might result in making us become more like our ideal, and thus "The dance before the mirror" makes the world a better and happier place. The trophy was awarded to the fourth year.

In giving the decision of the judges, Dr. Walter took the opportunity of offering much helpful criticism and advice for the future. The president, Miss Shatford, then thanked Dr. Walter and his colleagues, Dr. R. A. MacLean and Miss Monck, for their kindness in giving their time to judging the contest.

NEW MANAGING BOARD OF THE "DAILY" IS ANNOUNCED

O'Brien as President, O'Hagan as Editor and Craik as Managing Editor—Amended Constitution of News Board to Call for Ten Members—Read, Arts '23, and Ogilvy, Sci. '24, Made Night Editors—Woolcombe, Goren, Gross and Smith Appointed Associate Editors on News Board.

Loud and enthusiastic applause greeted the announcement made by the President of the Daily at the recent "Daily Dinner" that the Managing Board for next session would be J. L. O'Brien as President, Howard O'Hagan as Editor, and Gavin H. Craik as Managing Editor. The dinner was tendered the Daily staff by the Students' Council as a mark of appreciation for the efforts of the staff, all of whom hold honorary positions, and as a means of formally thanking the men for the work that they have done in getting out the paper all through the year.

The dinner was entirely a family affair, and as such had a continuous and lasting air of good-fellowship and fraternization throughout its duration. At the conclusion of the meal, O'Hagan announced that the Daily pins, awarded the members of the staff each year for conspicuous merit and consistent good work, would go to the following: GOLD PINS—To the three members of the Managing Board, MacKlaier, O'Brien, O'Hagan, SILVER PINS—To the News Board, made up as follows: Walter, Willard, Levinson, Craik, Nichol, Tombs, BRONZE PINS—To the following reporters, especially deserving because of their consistent and generous work throughout the year: Woolcombe, Read, Goren, Smith, Gross and Ogilvy.

W. F. MacLaurin, president for the past year and former Managing Editor, will be breaking his connection with the paper at the conclusion of the current session. Last winter, due to the trouble which arose in connection with the McGill Daily's advertising, rendered the president's position so insecure, and in addition to representing the Daily on the Students' Council Bill spent several months in ceaseless effort to reorganize the advertising staff with what successful result the college has recently been made aware by the makeup of the college "sheet."

In announcing his successor, J. L. O'Brien, as president of the next year, MacLaurin mentioned the fact that the man that had charge over him as News Editor for the night was Jack O'Brien. Other activities called O'Brien away from active work on the Daily for a time, but he accepted the request of last year's Managing Board to return and fill the editorship. Jack, having graduated in the class of Arts '20, is now in Law '23, and that he will be an able representative of the Daily on the Council goes without saying. The new editorship was the next announced. Howard O'Hagan, the Managing Editor for the past year, graduates in Arts this year; but the Council are glad to know he will be back next session in Law, and that he accordingly will be able to accept the position of Editor as tendered him. Howard is in Arts '22, hails from British Columbia, and has served the Daily consistently since his arrival at McGill. His appointment is made with the absolute confidence that he is the man for the job, and altogether competent to hold down the responsibilities of his office.

Gavin H. Craik, Arts '23, of Mel-bourne, Ont., steps into the Managing Editorship. This is his third year on the paper, and he has been watched with eagerness by the Managing Boards of past years, who have long since marked him as very fitting to be the office-head and manager of the staff. The duties of the Managing Editor are often not appreciated by the outside college, but they are very vital to the life of the paper and are best realized by the men on the staff who alone can grasp the responsibility and hard work that the holder of the office is called on to shoulder.

The News Board will hereafter contain ten and not six members. In the past, the six night editors alone were on the News Board. At the meeting of the staff prior to the dinner, the constitution was amended to increase the Board and to divide it into six night editors as before, with four additional men of special reporting capacity better qualified to handle special stories and special assignments than to do desk work, to be designated as Associate Editors on the News Board. The News Board as announced, is made up of Walter, Willard, Levinson, Tombs, and two new appointees to fill the vacancies caused by the graduation of Nichol and the

TRACK EXECUTIVE MEETS AT UNION

Interscholastic Track Meet Plans Almost Complete

Plans for next fall were discussed at a meeting of the Track Club executive held last night in the Union. Practices will start about September 1, and all men who are considering turning out are requested to sign their names and addresses on the sheet posted for that purpose in the lobby of the Union. It is most essential that an early start be made owing to the fact that the Track Meet is to be held at an earlier date than in former years.

Preparations for the Interscholastic Meet are being completed under the direction of J. L. O'Brien. The positions of manager and of assistant manager will be filled next season by R. B. Henry, Med. '23, and P. N. Gross, Sci. '25.

Indoor Track practices are still being held on Wednesdays and Fridays between six and seven, with Coach Van-Wagner on hand to give pointers and help along any new men.

appointed to fill these vacancies are Stanley Read, of Arts '23, and Robert Ogilvy, of Science '24. Read hails from Sherbrooke where he has had newspaper experience, and he has been a hard worker since his debut on the Daily. Robert Ogilvy has proved considerable of a "find" to the Daily this year. He comes to McGill from Hamilton Collegiate, where he held down the respective positions of Business Manager and later Editor of the Hamilton Collegiate Magazine.

The four appointments to the positions of Associate Editor on the News Board go to E. M. Woolcombe, Sci. '23, of Ottawa; Charles H. Goren, Law '22 (returning next session), of Philadelphia; Philip N. Gross, Science '25, of Montreal, and A. J. M. Smith, Arts '25, of Westmont.

The three appointments to the Managing Board and the amendment are subject to ratification by the Council; but as they have been carried out with the sanction and advice of President J. G. Copeland and President-elect R. L. Hamilton, their ratification by the Council at its next meeting is assured.

ECONOMISTS HAD MEETING IN UNION

(Continued from Page 1.) city. Canada has a good employment service but it is useless at the present time. Webster put forward suggestions for the present conditions. There is a necessity at present for palliatives but public works of necessity should be undertaken. Unemployment insurance is necessary for Canada. Form a mutual insurance society, have the workman, the employer and the state contribute. It must not be such as to encourage loafing but enough to prevent starvation of the worker. Also now is the time to reform the employment service.

The next speaker, Pierce, stated that he would discuss the causes of unemployment. The first cause is trade depression and cyclical movement of industry. He traced the course this cycle takes and then referred to the classical theorists such as Adam Smith, Mill, Ricardo, etc., and their theories of maladjustment of production. The speaker said he believed that unemployment is caused by over-production and that labor does not receive a sufficient proportion of what it produces and that the present system of distribution is at fault. He stressed the point that labor does not receive sufficient remuneration, and has not risen in society as it should have in recent times. Then consuming power has not kept pace with producing power. Although money wages increased during the war, real wages as expressed in commodities, actually fell. During this time real profits certainly rose. There is a limit beyond which amassed profits and savings should not rise. We must increase the consuming power of the poorer classes. Labor must be organized so that it may claim its share in industry—equality of bargaining power must be obtained. It now rests with capital to treat labor fairly—the numbers of labor are bound, to tell in the end and the way in which capital treats labor now will be reflected in the treatment of capital at the hands of labor when the latter gain the supremacy. Following Pierce's address, Sir Arthur Currie threw the meeting open for discussion. The first speaker spoke at some length on the peculiar conditions caused by the recent war. He alluded to the present condition of society and concluded by saying that it must be changed if it is to continue. The second speaker disagreed with Webster's reasons for unemployment. He spoke along the same lines as the first speaker and tended to be hostile to the capitalistic system.

The next speaker was Mr. Hugh Griffith, one of the founders of the Economics Club. He congratulated the speakers and the club on the splendid meeting. His view was that if the extremes of the cycles of depression could be eliminated, we would be on the way to check unemployment.

O'Hagan spoke next and referred to immigration in relation to unemployment and this particularly on the Pacific Coast. Peterson then said a few words and referred to waste and bad management in industry. Several others addressed the meeting, which proved very interesting as showing the various points of view held.

PHYSICAL EDs. WIN AGAINST MACDONALD

A basketball match at Ste. Anne's yesterday afternoon resulted in a win of 64-12 for the M.S.P.E., who had a decided advantage over Mac in both passing and shooting. Play was clean, there being very few fouls.

Miss Lemesurier, forward, and Miss Lafferty, in centre, played well for Mac. Miss Duff-Stewart starred for the M.S.P.E., seldom missing her shot, and scored 22 out of the 32 goals. Miss Gardner in centre played a good fast game.
